SPECIAL GUEST LECTURE & AGM

Monday, June 3, 2019 5:30 to 9:00 pm
(Dinner served at 6:15pm)
Ryerson University, POD-250

Guest Lecture:

Quinn Grundy, RN, PhD

Assistant Professor, Lawrence S. Bloomberg Faculty of Nursing,
University of Toronto

Title of Presentation:

Research integrity and early career nurse researchers: Navigating authorship, conflicts of interest and industry funding

NRIG is very pleased to present this special guest lecture by Dr. Quinn Grundy. Dr. Grundy's research explores the commercial determinants of health and their impact on the delivery of health services, health evidence, and consumer health information. She is a member of the international Evidence, Policy, and Influence Collaborative at The University of Sydney. Dr Grundy is the author of Infiltrating Healthcare: How Marketing Works Underground to Influence Nurses (Johns Hopkins University Press, 2018) which details the first in-depth study of the ways that registered nurses interact with pharmaceutical and medical device company representatives. She has further authored or co-authored numerous publications in leading medical, bioethics, and health policy journals. Her latest book will be available for purchase at the NRIG AGM and is also available for purchase online at: <https://www.amazon.ca/Infiltrating-Healthcare-Marketing-Underground-Influence/dp/1421426757>

NRIG Members: $40/person
