Dr. Holly Graham, RN, BA, BScN, MN, PhD, R.D.

Psychologist, Assistant Professor, University of Saskatchewan
Indigenous Research Chair in Nursing

Thursday, August 20, 2020 at 7:00 pm - 8:00 pm E.S.T.

Dr. Graham will share her perspective of how professional relationships may be enriched. In this session, she will address concepts that impact the relationship between health care providers (HCPs) and their patients - both Indigenous (First Nation, Métis, and Inuit) and non-Indigenous. First, beginning with how to support and enhance resilience. Next, the impact of adverse childhood experiences (ACEs) on wellness. Thirdly, the historical relationship between Indigenous and non-Indigenous peoples in Canada and how this continues to impact current personal and professional relationships. Thus, the benefits of integrating trauma informed principles and care into daily practice will be discussed. She will conclude with a brief overview of the priorities of the Indigenous Research Chair in Nursing at the University of Saskatchewan-mentorship and relationships.
