

WATER & HEALTH:

A 2-Part Webinar Series

Indigenous Relationship to Water

Thursday, September 24th, 2020, 1:00-2:00pm ET

In this webinar, looking at the Indigenous relationship to water, Rachel Arsenault will talk about how that relationship has been impacted by water insecurity. She'll discuss water contamination in reserves and how water insecurity hinders many First Nations abilities to protect their members during the pandemic.

The Walkerton Inquiry

Thursday, October 1st, 2020, 1:00-2:00pm ET

For nearly two years, the Canadian Environmental Law Association counsel and staff were extensively involved in representing Concerned Walkerton Citizens at the Public Inquiry investigating that Ontario community's tainted water tragedy. In this one hour webinar with CELA Executive Director Theresa McClenaghan and Concerned Walkerton Citizens Chair Bruce Davidson, learn more about the health impacts of tainted water and the government's reaction to the community's water crisis.
